Diversity Visa Key Points

Who is eligible?

- You must be born in a country whose natives qualify. Those born in Burma qualify for a Diversity Visa.
- You must have either:
  - A high school education or equivalent. For those who attended high school in Burma, this means you have passed the 10th Standard Examination.

OR

- Two years of work experience in the past five years in a job that requires two years of training or experience.

How do I register?

- The registration period is open from October 2, 2013 to November 2, 2013. Do not wait until the last day to register!
- You must register online at www.dvlottery.state.gov. You will need to enter your biographical data and upload one photo that meets the requirements.
- You must also enter biographical data and a photo for your spouse and any unmarried children under the age of 21. If you do not, your entry will be disqualified.
- Do not submit more than one entry per person per year. However, both you and your spouse can submit an entry individually and include each other as a derivative on your applications.
- After registration, you will receive a confirmation number. Do not lose this number! You will need it to see if you won.

How do I know if I won?

- DV 2015 Lottery results will be available starting May 1, 2014.
- You must check the DV Lottery website (www.dvlottery.state.gov) with your confirmation number, surname, and year of birth. The Department of State will NOT send you an email.
- If you are a winner, you will be provided instructions on how to submit your application to the Kentucky Consular Center (KCC).
- You can also get the instructions from the U.S. Embassy, Rangoon.

When do I go for my interview?

- KCC will notify you when you are assigned an interview date.
- The U.S. Embassy, Rangoon will contact you to schedule an interview from October 2014 to September 2015.
- When you come for your interview, you will need to pay visa fees ($330 per person) at the Embassy. This is the only Diversity Visa fee, and it can only be paid at the Embassy, on the interview date.
